The old oak watched over them, its twisted branches creating a shelter for those it loved. Mother and daughter sat under the tree, both so much like each other with their raven black hair and porcelain skin. Where the daughter had freckles, the mother had scars, all across her face and arms. But the daughter never noticed. Together they laughed and told stories, tales of a time when everyone was magic and the land was filled with wonder. The sun began to set, and the daughter looked up at the tree. She had flowers in her hair, flowers she had picked while listening to the mother's stories. Mama, the daughter asked, where does that door go? The mother also looked at the tree, not letting the daughter see how confused she was, for she saw no door. Why, it goes to the land of Faerie. The land in our stories? The mother scooped her daughter up in her arms, tickling her. The...
