

Tis But the Time - the Biography of Lt. Col. Joseph Espie Dods DSO MS ( AAMC )

By Likeman, Robert Lieutenant Colonel CSM

Slouch Hat Publications, McCrae Australia, 2007. Hard Cover. Book Condition: New. Dust Jacket Condition: New. First Edition. 232 pages index notes b/w photos - No work of fiction contains more drama or surprise than this biography of Dr Joseph Espie Dods, the talented but little-known doctor who was Brisbane's Government Medical Officer from 1901 until 1930. Supreme good luck and dire misfortune alternated in the life of this modest man, in an age when integrity and propriety were expected of public figures, and duty took priority over personal convenience. Espie Dods's story is illuminated by his remarkable family members; his entrepreneur father who made a fortune in the New Zealand gold rush in the 1860s, but who died when Espie was only two years old; his well-connected Melbourne-raised mother whose business acumen held the family finances together ; his doctor stepfather, a militia stalwart, and member of the Queensland Legislative Council; his charming and fashionable wife, once described by the Press as the 'jewel of Brisbane society' ; and not least, his cultivated and celebrated older brother, Robert Smith Dods, the internationally famous architect. On the darker side of the story are typhoid fever and death in South Africa, Plague...
